In February, 1870, an act was passed enlarging the powers of the Institute so as to include among its objects, the promotion of the arts, science and literature, in addition to those of the original societies. Its library contains about 80,000 volumes bound, and about 250,000 pamphlets, exclusive of duplicates, and embracing all departments of literature. Its museum contains a large collection of antiquarian and historical relics, paintings, engravings, medals, coins, paper currency, etc. The scientific portion is deposited in the Museum of the Peabody Academy of Science. At the time of its removal the collection contained over 125,000 specimens in the departments of Ethnology, Zoology, Botany, Mineralogy, and Geology, scientifically arranged, and in good part labelled and catalogued. The Institute also gives courses of scientific and other lectures, and series of concerts during the winter months, and horticultural and art exhibitions during the spring, summer and autumn months. In June, 1894, a local history class was formed by the ladies of the Institute. Its meetings are held every other Friday afternoon in one of the library rooms, when papers on subjects relating to Salem's early history are read and discussed by the members. The building next east of Plummer Hall, built by the late Tucker Daland, has been purchased by the Essex Institute, and has been remodelled and arranged to accommodate its library and collections. Under the instrument of trust, East India Marine Hall (erected in 1824), was purchased and refitted, and the Museum of the East India Marine Society and the Natural History Collections of the Essex Institute received by the trustees as permanent deposits were placed therein. To this foundation have been added many valuable collections since received by the trustees. A new exhibition hall was added and opened in 1889.

The arrangement of the Museum is educational, and not merely for the purpose of exhibiting curiosities. It is especially designed to aid the teachers of the county in connection with school work. Cards on many of the objects give lists of books in the Salem Public Library relating to the collections.

The collections in the public exhibition halls may be summarized as follows:—

I. A collection of the animals, minerals and rocks of Essex County. A collection of woods of the trees of Essex County, and one of the pre-historic relics of the county. A large collection of the dried plants of the county, in cabinets, in the lower rooms, may be consulted by students on application at the office.

II. A synoptical collection illustrating the animal kingdom, from the lowest to the highest forms, arranged according to the text-books in common use in our schools and colleges. Letters upon the cases indicate the order in which it should be examined.

III. A type collection of minerals illustrating the edition of Dana's Mineralogy, used in our schools, and a collection illustrating the historic geology of the earth.

IV. A collection of objects illustrating the dress, religious customs, implements of war and of domestic use, and objects of art of the native races of China, Japan, Siam, India, Korea Africa, the Pacific Islands, Malay regions, and Philippines, and North and South America, etc., in the new east hall. This collection originated in 1799 with the formation of the East India Marine Society, and has had an uninterrupted existence since that date. It was greatly increased in 1868 by the specimens received from the Essex Institute, and large additions have since been made by the Academy trustees.

V. An historical collection of portraits of prominent Salem merchants, members and officers of the East India Marine Society, together with many interesting relics connected with the early social character of that institution, and models and pictures of Salem merchant vessels. These form an interesting memorial of the commercial history of Salem.

The Academy has published two volumes of memoirs and annual reports; it has conducted classes in botany, mineralogy and zoology, and for several years held a summer school of biology. Lectures upon subjects connected with natural history and ethnology are given annually in Academy Hall.

The average number of visitors to the Museum has been over 51,000 annually during the past five years.

The Museum is open free to the public every week-day from 9 A. M. to 5 o'clock P. M. and Sundays from 2 to 5 P. M.

The large addition, built in 1885, for the purpose of increasing the Museum accommodations, has on the lower floor a fine lecture hall, known as Academy Hall. It has a seating capacity of 350, is centrally located, comfortably seated, well ventilated, and is in every respect a first class audience room. The hall is used for lectures by the academy, and is rented for concerts, lectures and readings.

8. SALEM ATHENÆUM was incorporated in March, 1810. Its conception was suggested by the Boston Athenæum, organized some three years earlier. The characters of the two institutions are in many respects similar, the incorporated objects of both being the promotion of literature, the arts and sciences. The Salem Athenæum purchased the social and philosophical libraries. The former organized in 1761, the latter in 1781. The Athenæum rooms in Central building, Market (now Central) street were opened to the proprietors on Wednesday, July 11, 1810, with a good collection of books, properly arranged and classified. In April, 1815, the library was removed to rooms in Essex place; in 1825, to rooms over the Salem Bank; in 1841, to Lawrence place, and in 1857 to Plummer Hall. On the 7th of February, 1869, Mr. Alfred Stone of Providence, formerly a resident of Salem, by invitation addressed a meeting at the East church, explaining the working of the Providence Union. The next evening a few persons came together in the parlors of Benjamin H. Silsbee, Esq., to confer upon the matter further. Other meetings followed at the same place, and resulted in the formation of the Salem Fraternity; object, "to provide evening instruction and amusement" for such of our population as, "being confined to their work during the day, need recreation at the close of their labors." On the evening of the 21st of April, 1869, the western range of rooms on the second floor of Downing's block, 175 Essex street, was opened for the purpose, from front to rear. July 1, 1897, the Fraternity moved into Lyceum Building, and this fall will occupy their own building on Central street when many industrial classes will be added to the work. The Amusement Room.—The number in attendance fluctuates with the season and with the attractions outside. In the warm weather and short evenings a few only will appear. During the long winter evenings, especially if cold and stormy, this comfortable room is much prized. The Library.—It began with a few shelves of books, miscellaneous and unselected, in a small, back room. It contains about 600 books suitable for boys nearly the same number having been given away, and it has ceased to be a circulating library. It was the first free library in Salem. The Reading Room is supplied with the Salem papers; several daily and weekly newspapers, pictorial weeklies, religious, scientific and literary periodicals, find their way to the tables, at a very small outlay of money. In 1875 the Fraternity became incorporated under the Statutes of Massachusetts. Francis H. Lee, Pres.; George L. Allen, Vice President; Frank E. Locke, Treas.; George W. Mansfield, Sec.; Wm. D. Northend, Wm. Northey, Francis H. Lee, F. E. Locke, George L. Allen, Rev. Alfred Manchester, Mrs. F. H. Lee, Miss E. Wheatland, Miss S. L. Kimball, Miss E. W. Silsbee, Directors.

The library was opened to the public for the delivery of books, July 8, 1889. There are now in the library, June 1, 1899, 37,807 volumes. By the provisions of the deed of gift the management of the library is vested in a board of seven trustees, six elected for life by the City Council, and the Mayor of the city for the time being, the remaining member, ex-officio, and the chairman of the board.
