SALEM STREET AND HOUSEHOLDERS' DIRECTORY

The street directory gives the location of each street and shows what other streets or places run from or across it. The house numbers are given in the left and right hand columns, with the names of heads of families and persons in business, in the order of location.
 Houses without numbers are indicated by a — and the dash is also used opposite connecting streets to indicate whether such streets begin or end on the left or right side.

SALEM NICKNAMES

Salem is unusually prolific in local nomenclature. There is hardly a lane or alley, hill or hollow, which has not borne some nickname more or less appropriate at some period of its history. In this age of directories such names become lost, giving place to the recognized title.

All down town, below Pleasant st., was formerly known as Wapping, so named from Wapping in London.

North Salem was christened Pigeonville, and many still call it North Fields, a later title.

Castletonville, now nicknamed Nauvoo, was a locality where Winthrop and Endicott streets now are. A man named Joe Smith built a house there about the same time that Joe Smith, the Mormon, settled Nauvoo.

Roast Meat Hill, applied to the rising ground back of High street.

Knocker's Hole was in the vicinity of Mill and Margin streets. There was a shipyard there in the eighteenth century.

Button Hole was near the Jail, and the Button Hole toughs used to have fights with the Knocker's Hole gang.

Vinegar Hill was on Broad street.

Circus lane is now Hathorne street, the fields out that way being let years ago for circus performances.

Liberty Hill is in North Salem, off Appleton street. There was a little picnic ground there years ago and quite a story could be written of its history.

Buffum's corner was at the junction of Boston and Essex streets, named after a Buffum, who kept store there about 200 years ago.

Neck-gate denoted the end of Derby street.

Blubber hollow was from Federal to Goodhue street, also known as Town Ridge.

Jonny Cake Hill stood between Blubber hollow and the big tree on Boston street.

Carltonville is a section of North Salem on Mason street.

From the big tree to the Peabody burying ground was called Trask's plain.

The Nubble was a locality near the Peabody burying ground.

Goose lane ran from Federal to Fowler street.

Lover's lane was off Tremont street.

Plank alley was a part of Elm street between Charter and Essex.

Baptist hill, in the rear of Federal street, named from the First Baptist Church, now called Odell square. They used to baptize in a pond nearby.

Gallows hill, in the rear of Boston street, the scene of the witchcraft execution of 1692, is too well known to require anything beyond mere mention. As also the town pastures and Castle hill, which still hold their names.

Creek street is so named because it is built over what was a creek, but is now culverted over.

School house lane was the early name given Washington street, afterward Court street.

"Nahum Keike," or Naumkeag, was the original Indian name for North river.

Federal street was so named in 1766, as an indication of the united feeling in favor of something better than an eight foot way along North River. The portion from Washington to North was previously called Marlborough street and the eastern portion County street.

Old Paved street was the name of Essex between Washington and North for many years, it being paved about 1773. King street and Main street are also names which have been applied to Essex street.
